

Some predictions for the period 2020-2040 made by #thehighersources (not chronologically)

- Donald Trump will be elected the US President for the second term
- The running mate of Joe Biden will be a woman and she will be elected President of the USA in 2024
- The first Global Oil Shock will occur after transport of oil from the Gulf is halted after an earthquake, which blocks the Strait of Hormuz
- There will be uprising, disturbances, demonstrations, agitations, protests, violence, rallies, chaos, power struggle, challenging of the authority of the governments and suppression by force in many countries. Many governments and dictators will fall
- The presence of ETs on Earth will be proved beyond doubt in a shocking revelation followed by a re-imposition of lockdown for “safety” reasons. Don’t believe anyone who says Aliens will attack us
- Many Volcanoes around the world will start erupting Ash for prolonged period. Some notable ones to erupt will be Grimsvotn, Katla, Denali, Stromboli, Vesuvius, Popocatepetl and lots more
- Powerful earthquakes, Tsunamis and Storms will take place
- The coastline of Los Angeles, California will break off and sink into the sea in a massive earthquake which will take place during the second term of Pres. Donald Trump
- EU will break up. USA will break up into three parts after many states secede. Borders of many countries will be re-drawn
- China will suffer a calamitous economic collapse. However it will happen after several years. The beginning of China's economic troubles will manifest President Trump leaves office. The Chinese will attempt to lay blame upon him and this inaccurate notion will gain favour and belief
- Continuous volcanic ash eruption will create a layer of ash in the upper atmosphere which will block sunlight by upto 30% and give rise to the “Dim Period” during which plants will go into hibernation, crops will fail, and weather across the world will change. Oats and root-type vegetables will grow well. Fruits which require ripening will not be available. Big leaf plants will not be able to photosynthesize

Some predictions for the period 2020-2040 made by #thehighersources (not chronologically)

- Instead of the predicted Global cooling, the layer of ash will trap the heat radiated from the Earth and rapidly accelerate Global Warming. The “Dim period” will last 3-4 years and will affect globally
- All the Glaciers in Alps, Himalayas and elsewhere will melt. Ice in the North Pole and Greenland will melt completely. Ice in Antarctica will melt to a large extent. The sea level will rise by 3-4 metres
- Sudden melting of glaciers will cause a huge flood in Nepal & North Indian plains. All rivers will overflow causing massive damage and loss of life. Gradually North India will turn into a desert as glacier-fed rivers dry up and monsoon fails due to warming. People from North India will be forced to migrate. Sahara will be green again
- The melting ice will cause a rise in the global mean sea level by 3-4 metres. Many coastal cities around the world upto 6-9 metres above sea level will be completely or partially (during tides) submerged, including cities in India like Kolkata, Chennai and Mumbai. People will have to leave these cities and migrate to higher grounds
- Australia will be unliveable within two generations. Canada will be among one of the least affected nations
- Earth’s magnetic field will weaken considerably and the North and South Poles will fluctuate abruptly, sometimes moving several hundreds of Kilometres in a span of hours
- Navigation using compass will come to a halt due to erratic behaviour of magnetic field
- Around the same time, huge solar flares will hit earth and damage/disable all the GPS satellites in the orbit
- Magnetic pulsation of the Sun will affect the precession and nutation of the Earth’s axis, causing the changes

Some predictions for the period 2020-2040 made by #thehighersources (not chronologically)

- There will not be any reliable mode of navigation by air and sea. Air and sea travel will come to a halt
- Transportation of crude oil by sea will cease across the world leading to Second Global Oil Shock. Oil price exceeds $300. Automobile & Aviation sector as well as Stock Market will no longer exist
- Lack of oil will stop movement of vehicles across the world. It will also create a crisis of by-products like plastic
- There will be a crisis in electricity production as transport will not be available to carry coal to power stations
- There will be a Global Economic Collapse. International Trade as well as internal long-distance trade will come to a halt. Banks will collapse due to unrealized loans and investments. Get a bicycle
- Barter system will replace money in many communities
- Large companies will collapse resulting in job losses. Only companies producing essential food, clothes and basic items will survive
- “New Electricity” – A technology to generate unlimited clean electricity from Earth’s magnetic field amplified by Calcite Crystal will be re-discovered. It will be commercialized in 5-7 years
- Transportation by balloon using new technology will start. Radio beacon will be used for navigation
- Internet will survive due to its undersea cables and failsafe design
- Localisation will be the key to survival. Small self-sufficient local communities, where everything is available locally, will thrive. Control of the Central Governments will be minimal to non-existent.
- Radiation from the Sun will affect sperm and human fertility will fall by 90%. Same will happen to animals and many species will be gone
- World’s population will fall by upto 50% within two generations
- Depopulation will mostly happen in highly populated countries
- Africa will be among the most prosperous regions after the change

Some predictions for the period 2020-2040 made by #thehighersources (not chronologically)

- There will be a rise in human consciousness as we gradually move into the New Golden Age in 15-20 years. Established religions will no longer exist. Simple spirituality replacing religious practices will be the hallmark. Many young people will display extraordinary powers. The rise in consciousness is the primary objective of the change